SCHNEIDER DOWNS NAMES KEN GRUBER CHIEF INFORMATION OFFICER

Pittsburgh, PA—January 5, 2008—Schneider Downs (www.schneiderdowns.com) announces that Kenneth Gruber has joined the firm as Chief Information Officer, a new position at Schneider Downs.

Gruber is responsible for the information technology strategic plans, programs and initiatives to support the firm's overall strategic goals. He has more than 20 years of experience in technology, planning, reporting and risk management, as well as experience with the management of ecommerce production system infrastructure and enterprise infrastructure design for business applications and global internet systems. Prior to joining Schneider Downs, Gruber held several technology and operational positions at BNY Mellon, most recently as the Vice President and Director with BNY Mellon. Gruber is pursuing an MBA at the University of Pittsburgh where he also earned his B.S.

"We're delighted to add the level of experience that Ken brings to Schneider Downs," said Raymond W. Buehler, Jr., President and CEO of Schneider Downs. "We recognize the important role that technology and information management play in our efficient management of client engagements, day-to-day firm operations and our future growth, and adding Ken will enhance our operations as one firm with five distinct business units."
