28 CPA's under the age of 35 from around the United States have been selected to participate in the 2010 AICPA Leadership Academy and one of those 28 is SARAH BRACK, Sr. Accountant with BURT & COMPANY CPAS, LLC. The AICPA's Leadership Academy program was established to inspire, nurture and empower the next generation of CPA leaders by providing them with advanced leadership training, access to well-connected professional networks, and opportunities to exercise leadership within the profession. The 28 participants are divided equally between men and women and are from and represent a cross section of the profession's role in the American capital market system. They work in public accounting, business and industry, government, and academia. Sarah holds a Master of Accounting from the University of New Mexico and a Bachelor of Science in Management with concentrations in Accounting and Economics from Tulane

University in New Orleans. She has six years of progressive accounting and auditing experience in public accounting, with a broad knowledge of several accounting software systems.
