Cooper Parry promotes Danny Parker to Partner

Regional business advisers Cooper Parry have further strengthened their team by promoting Danny Parker to Partner.

Danny becomes one of twenty-four partners championing three offices in the region and a further office in London.

Danny works closely with his clients to provide strategic advice and support to help them create opportunities and tackle the challenges they face in their businesses.

He became a director at Cooper Parry in 2004 as an Audit Manager before quickly moving up the ranks to become a Director in 2006. Prior to joining Cooper Parry, Danny was part of the team at Dafferns in Coventry where he qualified, before going on to spend five years with KPMG in Nottingham.

Danny said, "I am delighted to be taking on the role of Partner and will continue to drive the ongoing growth and success of the firm. The promotion allows me to focus on my clients and to work with colleagues to help to maintain and grow our clients' prosperity"

Commenting on the appointment, Cooper Parry's Chief executive, Jeremy Bowler said, "We feel incredibly well placed as a business and Danny's promotion is a key step in building the resource that we need to match demand from our clients. We have a clear vision to become No 1 in our chosen markets by growing, protecting and realising value for our clients and Danny will be an important contributor to achieving that vision"
